Collection Description

Title: Liberal Religious Education Journal

ID: MLTS.US.6004

Creator: MacLean Religious Education Collection Team

Date Range: 1988 to 1997

Extent: .5 Linear Feet (1 half box)

Language(s): English.

Scope and Content:

Eighteen themed journals published by the Liberal Religious Educators Association (LREDA) containing essays, articles, book reviews, poetry, and art work relating to religious education in Unitarian Universalism. The collection is complete. Collected by solicitation throughout the Unitarian Universalist Association. Organized by the MacLean Religious Education Collection Team.

Arrangement: Chronological order

History Note:

The journal was established through the generosity of an anonymous donor and supported by LREDA, grants, subscriptions, and contributions from LREDA members. The first issue listed an elected editorial board and a managing editor. Later issues listed a volunteer board and staff with a managing editor and an issue editor. These boards selected themes and collected submissions for the journal. Themes included liberal religious pluralism, the education of a religious educator, worship and the arts, and youth and the church's ministry in uncertain times. Issue number four, Spring 1990, was dedicated to Sophia Fahs and Angus MacLean and included photographs of each, quotations from their works, and essays by those who studied with them.
