

Chalice Lighting

In this place of peace, may we find hope.

In this place of connection, may we find community.

In this place of rest, let us feel the unrest of our hearts that calls us to address injustice.

In this place made sacred by memory, let us each feel ourselves part of the new that grows from the old.

In faith and with hope we light this chalice.

Leslie Takahshi-Morris