Overview

Meadville Lombard Theological School is an independent, accredited, graduate theological seminary, offering the degrees of Master of Divinity, Master of Arts in Religion, Doctor of Ministry, and a dual degree of Master of Divinity/Master of Arts in Leadership Studies.

We are affiliated with the Unitarian Universalist Association, the University of Chicago through its Divinity School, and are in cooperative relationship with the members of the Association of Chicago Theological Schools.

Letter of Welcome from the President

Over the last many years, Meadville Lombard has sought to create a vibrant ministerial formation process that is relevant for service in the 21st century while updating our facilities and assuring financial stability. In the necessary experimentation to reach our dreams we have sometimes stumbled, but always with a determination to strengthen this school and ultimately serve Unitarian Universalism through the ministers we prepare. Two years ago, with the Meadville Lombard TouchPointSM model of theological education fully introduced, our relocation to the South Loop completed, and economic sustainability realized, we felt we were at a brief resting place, a plateau from which to look backward with satisfaction and forward to new initiatives that will build on our success.

So I was taken by surprise by how emotionally affected I was when all that we had accomplished was decisively affirmed by the official letter I received from The Association of Theological Schools. The ATS Board of Commissioners reaffirmed our accreditation for a full period of ten years, to spring 2023 and approved our four degree programs. That was wonderful news in and of itself. But then the letter went on to rave about what we have done here, encouraging us to maintain:

"The collaborative process engaged by the school's leadership...[that] has established for this seminary a unique niche in graduate theological education..."

"...an imaginative curriculum that is creatively delivered to a distinctive audience."

"The new sense of nimbleness that has led to an amazing turnaround over the last decade..."

"...an agile model that is mission-driven, market-sensitive, and monetarily sustainable."

My sense of gratitude is enormous. I am so proud of our Provost Dr. Sharon Welch and our awesome faculty, our small but amazingly efficient administrative staff, and the distinguished UU leaders who have served as our trustees over the years of tough decisions and brave initiatives. And I am also deeply grateful to all of you: our alums who daily prove the value of a Meadville Lombard education by your ministries, our supporters whose confidence is registered by your generous donations, and our students who have always believed in our future. If you want to read the entire text of the ATS letter, you can find it here.

This is a great day for Unitarian Universalism as we celebrate Meadville Lombard as a seminary that is indisputably recognized as a leader in theological education - the way it should be!

History

The Meadville Theological School was founded in Meadville, Pennsylvania in 1844. Its founder was a prosperous businessman, Harm Jan Huidekoper, who had discovered Unitarianism and wanted to help spread its message of liberality and hope in the "west." From its very beginning "no doctrinal test" was ever to be made a part of admission to the school. To become less isolated and to find a more enriching intellectual environment, Meadville moved in 1926 to become a part of the University of Chicago academic community.

Lombard College, originally the Illinois Liberal Institute, was founded in 1851 in Galesburg, Illinois, and its Universalist Divinity School in 1881 in Chicago. When the undergraduate college discontinued operations during the Great Depression, the Divinity School began a merger process with Meadville.

From 1929 to 2011, Meadville Lombard was located at South Woodlawn Avenue in the Hyde Park neighborhood of Chicago. Our school began a new chapter when we relocated to our current location on Michigan Avenue in downtown Chicago's South Loop.

Why Meadville Lombard?

Our Mission

At Meadville Lombard Theological School, we educate students in the Unitarian Universalist tradition to embody liberal religious ministry in Unitarian Universalist congregations and wherever else they are called to serve. We do this to take into the world our Unitarian Universalist vision of justice, equity, and compassion.

Our Responsibility

Meadville Lombard Theological School takes seriously our responsibility to ground our students in the knowledge, experience and tools they will need to promote change in a world in need of the hard work and determination of progressive religious leaders.

Our Students

Our students seek to enter the ministry through our Master of Divinity degree program or to deepen their understanding of liberal religion through our Master of Arts in Religion degree program. Our students are active in congregational life before and during their course of study at Meadville Lombard and are entrepreneurial with regard to their own educational needs for the work they will do during and after their course of study is complete. Our students come from around the country and around the globe and bring their understanding of local and global religious life to their work in the classroom and in their ministries.

Our Faculty

Key to our progressive education is having the faculty that will best challenge students academically while mentoring them in the theory and practice of liberal religion. Our faculty includes Unitarian Universalist ministers with years of practical experience as well as world-class scholars in liberal theology and contextual education.

Our Curriculum

Meadville Lombard TouchPointSM was developed by our faculty over the last several years to provide students with the grounding they will need to embrace the multicultural present while preparing them to lead vibrant congregations in a multicultural, multiracial world.

We created a curriculum that requires our students to interact in multicultural and interreligious settings to gain experience, context and ideas for creating congregational life that celebrates the joy and beauty of diverse expressions of thought and belief of Unitarian Universalism in the 21st century.

Meadville Lombard TouchPointSM is a low-residency learning format that provides students with the connection of community and collegiality even while they spend most of their time in seminary at distant locations. Meadville Lombard students travel to Chicago for week-long intensive classes in January, March and July. These intensive classes require that reading and some assignments are completed prior to the face-to-face time in Chicago. In many classes, students also have follow-up work.

When not in Chicago, students stay connected to each other and to the faculty through our electronic classroom, by phone and by email. Our students are remarkable in the way they create community across the continent and globe through social networking sites and an electronic chat list.

Students in our Master of Divinity degree program are also enrolled in our Signature Courses—year-long, multi-unit courses dependent on site work in community and congregational settings. While enrolled in these courses, students are involved in weekly work that requires reflection and contact with other students in the class, with the faculty, and with their Teaching Pastors.

Our Consortium

Meadville Lombard is part of the Association of Chicago Theological Schools (ACTS) which includes twelve other schools. Students living in the Chicago area can avail themselves of the course offerings of these schools by cross-registering through Meadville Lombard. Many of the ACTS schools offer online courses which are also available to TouchPoint students.

Affiliations

Association of Chicago Theological Schools (ACTS)

Meadville Lombard joined with other theological schools in Chicago to create the Association of Chicago Theological Schools and its offshoot, the Hyde Park Cluster of Theological Schools, in 1984. The cluster includes Catholic Theological Union, Chicago Theological Seminary (United Church of Christ), McCormick Theological Seminary (Presbyterian), and Lutheran School of Theology in Chicago. ACTS membership allows Meadville Lombard student access to more than 300 faculty members, 1,000 courses, and excellent libraries in the Chicagoland area and suburbs.

University of Chicago

Students at Meadville Lombard may take up to three courses at the University of Chicago. When enrolled at Meadville Lombard, students may be entitled to University rights and privileges: use of libraries, recreational facilities, and health services.

National and International Affiliations

Meadville Lombard is one of two Unitarian Universalist theological schools in North America with strong affiliations with the Unitarian Universalist Association, its Department of Ministry, and the UUA's Ministerial Fellowship Committee.

Meadville Lombard also has been an institutional member of the International Association for Religious Freedom (IARF) for many decades. Historically, many students, alumni/ae, and faculty have served on the IARF/US chapter board. A pre-World War II tradition is continued by a scholarship fund that enables theological students or ministers chosen by the Unitarian churches in Hungary and Romania to study at the school. Meadville Lombard now has a "partner school" relationship with the Protestant Theological Institute in Koloszvar, Transylvania (Romania). In recent years, students belonging to the Brahma Samaj (India), Rissho Kosei-Kai (Japanese Buddhist), Konko-kyo (Japanese Shinto), and the Unitarian Universalist Church of the Philippines have come to study at the school.

Wiggin Memorial Library

The Wiggin Library has been at the heart of the school since its beginning when Frederic Huidekoper, son of the founder and the School's first professor and librarian, put his personal library at the disposal of the fledgling institution. It is now one of the foremost resource centers for the study of liberal religion. In addition to the many materials in Unitarian and Universalist history and theology, the library is also strong in related areas of literature, philosophy, and nineteenth-century American culture and thought as well as in the fields of comparative religion and social ethics.

The archives include papers and other collections from some of our most prominent ministers, including William Ellery Channing, Jenkin Lloyd Jones, A. Powell Davies, Charles Lyttle, Jack Mendelsohn, Kenneth Patton, Vincent B. Silliman, Arthur Foote, John Hayward, and Wallace Robbins.

Educational Goals

The Master of Divinity degree curriculum is designed to challenge and support students in an on-going process of developing their individual and unique gifts for service in the liberal religious community. It provides a foundation of basic preparation for ministry centered in the following values:

Liberal religious heritage: The ability of students to read themselves deeply, passionately, and critically into the story of liberal religion, especially Unitarian Universalism, as part of the larger human story.

Excellence in ministerial practices: The ability to demonstrate a significant understanding of and progress in the basic arts and skills of ministry: leadership and administrative skills, worship leadership, religious education, preaching, pastoral care, and prophetic ministry in the larger community.

Intellectual capacities: The capacities that will open for students the fields of intellectual discourse, allowing them to make significant contributions to the cause of liberal religion. These capacities are characterized as “response-abilities:” the ability to affect creative, rigorous, wise, and compassionate responses to other people, other congregations and institutions, and the world.

Moral vision grounded in an engagement with a diverse world: A deeply moral engagement with the world, celebrating its rich diversity, and confronting its problems of oppression, injustice, poverty, and environmental degradation.

Personal readiness: Personal self-awareness, resilience, humor, good judgment, ethical and moral integrity, a well-tested seriousness of intent, and the ability to balance personal needs with the needs of ministry.

Spiritual depth: A spiritual depth united with disciplines that aim to preserve and increase that depth as they encounter the challenges and distractions of a ministerial life.

Interdependence: An understanding of and an engagement with the church as a covenant community, the nature and importance of the congregation as a learning institution engaged in the larger culture, and the practice of collaborative leadership.

Degree Programs

Meadville Lombard offers four degree programs:

The Master of Divinity (MDiv) degree program prepares students for professional ministry and adheres to the standards set forth by the Unitarian Universalist Association's Ministerial Fellowship Committee.

The Master of Arts in Leadership Studies (MALS) provides advanced work for lay leaders, ministers, and ministerial students in the theory and practice of leadership within congregations and community-based ministries.

The MALS degree is designed to develop liberal religious leadership for congregational and community life, grounded in a clear sense of the current challenges leadership face within our contemporary pluralistic, multi-faith, cross-cultural world.

The Master of Arts in Religion (MAR) degree program is a program for students determined to further their academic study of religion.

Master of Divinity Degree

The Master of Divinity (MDiv) degree program consists of 30 units anchored by and organized around our three Signature Courses: Community Studies, Congregational Studies, and Leadership Studies. The Signature Courses are multi-unit, interdisciplinary courses that integrate practical field work and seminar learning. In addition to the Signature Courses, students meet their total unit requirements by taking 3 units of CPE and a combination of traditional courses and rotations (field work that supplements traditional courses).

All students (including part- and full-time) will be required to complete each signature course during one academic year. When enrolled in a Signature Course, students are required to attend the January Learning.

Full-time students can plan on completing the MDiv degree in three years. Part-time students may complete the MDiv program in as little as four years or as many as six.

As many as nine (9) credits may be transferred in from prior graduate work, though the student must petition the faculty for transfer credit. Once students matriculate, they may take up to 3 credits outside of Meadville Lombard—at the University of Chicago or another accredited graduate institution. Online or residential classes taken at any of the Association of Chicago Theological Schools member schools are not considered transfer courses.

Core Curriculum

At the center of the Meadville Lombard Educational Model are three experiential, multi-unit Signature Courses, designed to give students an opportunity to integrate their learning as they process the work that they are required to do in site placements in community and congregational settings.

Each week students meet in assigned small groups (usually by telephone) to address a question posed by the faculty and work together to create a reflection paper. The whole class also meets by conference call four times per semester and gathers together during the January Learning Convocation. As one of our students noted, the course is designed so that no piece of the learning can be done without the other—the site work informs the group reflections which then further inform how the students respond in their site work. Students throughout the country are able to maintain a learning cohort through the weekly small group meetings, as well as through the large group conference calls.

Students take the courses in the following sequence, building on their learning from year to year:

Community Studies Seminar

In their first year in the Master of Divinity degree program and with the guidance of our Director of Contextual Ministry, students find placements in community service organizations. They are required to provide 8 hours of weekly service to that organization and sites are selected with the purpose of enhancing the student's multicultural competencies. The student receives 3 units of credit upon successful completion of this course.

Congregational Studies Seminar

Enrollment in this seminar requires successful completion of the Community Studies Seminar. The components of the course are similar to those of the Community Studies Seminar, though the site work is done in a congregational setting and requires a commitment of 20 hours per week. In addition to the faculty, Teaching Pastors (experienced ministers leading the congregation) help direct the work of the student. The student receives 4 units of credit upon successful completion of this course.

Leadership Studies Seminar

Enrollment in this seminar requires successful completion of the Community Studies and Congregational Studies Seminars. The components of the course are similar to those of the Congregational Studies Seminar. The student receives 4 units of credit upon successful completion of this course.

During the course of their enrollment in the Congregational and Leadership Studies Seminars, students will undertake a project within the congregation that helps the congregation engage in border crossing activities.

Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE)

In addition to the signature courses, MDiv students are required to complete one basic unit of clinical pastoral education in a program certified by the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education. CPE programs are usually held in hospitals, but they also take place in mental health facilities, correctional institutions, nursing homes, and more. Full-time students should plan to complete CPE during the summer between their first and second years in the MDiv degree program. This requires the ability for the student to devote full-time work to the placement setting for approximately twelve weeks during the summer.

Part-time students may complete the requirement over the course of a year, but should plan to do so in a year when they are not also enrolled in a Signature Course.

Additional fees will be levied by the CPE site associated with this requirement. The Director of Contextual Ministry will assist the students in finding such placements.

Master of Arts in Leadership Studies

The MALS degree is designed to develop liberal religious leadership for congregational and community life, grounded in a clear sense of the current challenges leadership face within our contemporary pluralistic, multi-faith, cross-cultural world.

Degree Requirements include successful completion of 18 units of credit (1 full course = 1 unit of credit) are required. Of the 18 units, ten (10) are traditional academic courses. Additionally, the student will receive two units of credit for the thesis preparation and six units of credit for a supervised, full-time internship in a congregational or community-based setting (the internship is a requirement of the degree program).

Master of Arts

The Master of Arts (Religion) degree is a two-year graduate, academic degree program for students seeking an interdisciplinary approach to theological studies, allowing students to study a variety of theological and related disciplines and to specialize in a particular field of interest.

Offered within a liberal religious context in which questions of practice and theory are deliberately engaged together, the MAR is a versatile degree program suitable for students wishing to pursue further academic study in religion and theology as well as for those interested in approaching another field or profession from a perspective enriched by theological study. It is also a degree program appropriate for directors of religious education seeking certification in the Unitarian Universalist Association's certification program who would like to earn a master's degree while fulfilling those requirements.

Core Curriculum

A total of sixteen (16) credits are required for the Master of Arts degree. Four credits are granted for a thesis written in consultation with a faculty advisor and the director of the MAR program. Of the remaining twelve (12) credits, ten must be taken at Meadville Lombard or at another seminary in the Association of Chicago Theological Schools (ACTS). At least four courses must be taken from the area of concentration.

The additional eight (8) courses for the degree must be taken in four of the following eight disciplines: Ethics, Theology, Religious Education, Religion and the Arts, the Historical Context of Ministry, Ministry and the Church, and the Cultural Contexts of Ministry.

U.S. Department of Veterans' Affairs

Meadville Lombard Theological School is approved by the State of Illinois Approving Agency for Veterans' Education. All degree programs are certified for study.

Tuition and Fees (2015/16)

Typically, one course equals one unit of credit, unless noted otherwise. A full course of study averages out to nine (9) academic courses or nine units of credit per year. Students may meet this full-time equivalent through intensive courses, through semester-based courses, or, more likely, through a combination of the two.

Financial Aid

Our goal is to provide a number of methods to help our matriculated students graduate with the lowest burden of debt possible. Through financial aid and scholarships available from individuals, churches, Meadville Lombard, and the Unitarian Universalist Association, we strive to lower the roadblocks that might prevent ministerial candidates from answering their call.

Institutional Financial Aid

Tuition Reduction Awards

Meadville Lombard awards tuition reduction scholarship grants from available scholarship resources to matriculated students.

Scholarships

Individuals and institutions continue to invest in the future of Unitarian Universalism by providing grants, fellowships, and scholarships to our students. Listed below are only a few of the grants, fellowships, and scholarships made available to matriculated students by donors such as these. For more information, contact the Senior Director of Student Services.

Full Tuition Merit Scholarships

The following scholarships have been funded by donors to promote scholastic excellence. They are offered for the duration of the student's degree program and so applications are taken on a rotating basis.

The Arnold and Julia Bradburd Endowed Scholarship Fund for Excellence:

The Bradburd scholarship is a merit-based scholarship designed to be awarded to one student for the duration of their studies at Meadville Lombard as long as they meet the academic standards set forth by the Meadville Lombard Administration. Federal Financial Aid

Meadville Lombard students enrolled in a degree program at least half-time are eligible for Federal Financial Aid in the form of loans, as noted, below.

William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program

Direct Loans are low-interest loans for students and parents to help pay for the cost of a student's education after high school. The lender is the U.S. Department of Education rather than a bank or other financial institution. Direct Loans make loan repayment much easier--payments go directly to the federal government. Additional information on Federal Direct Loans is available from the Department of Education at <http://www.studentloans.gov> or 800-848-0979.

There are two types of Direct Loans available to our graduate students:

- Federal Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loans: Students get Federal Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loans regardless of need, but will have to pay all interest charges.
- Federal Direct Grad PLUS Loans (Plus Loans for Graduate and Professional Degree Students): Graduate and professional degree students may borrow under the PLUS Loan program up to their school's cost of attendance minus other financial assistance

Applying for Financial Aid

FAFSA

Students applying for either Meadville Lombard Tuition Reduction Awards or Federal Loans will need to begin by completing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (fafsa.ed.gov). This is will need to be completed each year the student is in school and seeking aid. The federal school code for Meadville Lombard Theological School is G01723.

Every student who completes a FAFSA receives a Student Aid Report (SAR) from the federal processor. If Meadville Lombard is listed on your FAFSA, we will receive the same information electronically.

Summer Semester 2014

E453INT Problems in Public Ethics | Welch/Schulz

The prophetic ministry is an integral part of the liberal religious tradition. In the past few years, scholars in the fields of history, sociology, philosophy, public policy and the cognitive sciences are changing our understandings of the complexity and multiple dimensions of prophetic social engagement. Self-critical prophetic engagement requires a thorough understanding of what motivates human behavior for good and for ill. Clergy are expected to be aware of this evolving scholarship in order to bring it to their work as prophetic leaders. In order to be effective in public ministry, clergy must (1) be clear about the theological and ethical grounds for their approach to difficult issues; (2) be well informed about the facts and theories in contention and able to articulate the position they disagree with as effectively as the position they call their own; (3) be aware of the multiple dimensions of social change; (4) be clear about where a particular initiative fits into the trajectory of social change; (5) be able to articulate and frame their own point of view in ways that will most readily be heard by the widest possible audience; and (6) be able to contribute to the creation of effective strategies for the implementation of just social policies. This course will focus on goals two through six. We ask you to build on our existing theological and ethical commitments to the work of social justice by immersing yourself in a study of the evolving scholarship on the essential ingredients of successful social movements. WE will expose you to a critical exploration of three of the most pressing problems on the national and world stage today: torture, environmentalism and poverty. The course will also help you learn how to articulate your perspective and navigate the complexities of dealing with a critical social and political issue of your choosing in an institutional context.

M360/560 Arts and Aesthetics | Tolley

This course engages in an examination of the intersection of the arts and ministry through reading, drama, spiritual practice, visual art and discussion. Final Project: Design a "religious arts educational event" typical of one of the following: an adult education setting, a Sunday school class, or a recognition banquet or fellowship event. This can have as its focus the creation of a visual statement, dramatic production or liturgical dance element in worship. Projects will be class presentations on our final day.

M494INT Method is the Message | Hicks

This course explores how to strategically create learning experiences in light of how children and adults learn and grow. Students should expect to grapple head-on with models of cognitive, faith and identity development in a multi-racial, multicultural world. The course is appropriate for directors of religious education, ministers, religious educators and classroom teachers, professors, social workers, graduate students developing curriculum – any person interested in creating a learning community that deepens self-knowledge and a capacity for social change.

T/E432INT Global Religions and Their Progressive Expressions | Hogue

This course offers students the unique opportunity to study the world religions with students and religious leaders from different national and religious cultures. By sharing and learning about our diverse religious experiences and contexts, our classroom will serve as a microcosm of our globalizing world. The course also includes presentations and conversations with religious leaders from diverse traditions. These experiential engagements will enrich our work with textbooks and other resources. In addition to learning about the traditions as whole cultural systems, progressive religious voices will be given focused attention. Students taking the class for credit will be expected to give a class presentation and complete all reading and writing assignments.

M377INT Creative Encounters: Ministry as Improvisation

Creative Encounters is an opportunity to learn a creative form and explore how it can be used in ministry and social engagement. This summer's theme is: ministry as improvisation. We will engage different forms of theater that are grounded in improvisation and explore their uses in ministry and social justice.

M426INT Viewing Religion: Religion, Movies and Media

This course explores the American religious landscape through contemporary novels and movies. Seemingly secular genres, studying American novels and movies allows students to explore spirituality, theology, and representations from a variety of traditions and contexts from urban store front church to an Appalachia snake handling congregation, from a pre-Vatican II cloister to the Mexican-American kitchen where folk religion blends with Catholicism and the supernatural. American literature and movies invites students to consider gender, race, class, cultural history, and comparative religious studies in a framework that invites discussion and imagination while the theological, historical, and cultural aspects of the stories are examined. At the core of our exploration will be the politics of representing religion at particular moments in American religious history through movies and literature, major themes of representation, and the interplay among constructed representations of race, gender, sexuality, nation, individuals, and institutions.

M387INT Crossing Boundaries: Multi-faith Leadership in the New America | Barker, Doebke

By participating in communities of practice, attending lectures and cultural performances that draw on the viewpoints of various faith traditions, being in dialogue with religious leaders who are working in the realm of multi-religious leadership, and conducting discussions with other seminarians, the student will build a foundation of knowledge, skills and dispositions that are necessary for emerging leadership in the American multireligious context.

Fall Term 2015/16

M345 Community Studies Seminar I | Welch, Hogue

This course is attuned to the contextual nature of learning and ministry; aligned with the values of Unitarian Universalism and the mission of MLTS; alert to the strategic roles, tasks, and callings of liberal religious ministry; aware of the need for contemporary liberal religious ministers to partner with communities and resources outside of religious liberalism; and attentive to the complex cultural factors and dynamics that affect effective (mutually beneficial) community partnerships. The overarching purpose of the seminar is to provide occasion for the reflective integration of students' practical site experiences with theoretical learning. Student experiences in the field serve as this course's primary texts, and these will be critically examined in light of an array of multidisciplinary, multimedia secondary texts.

M347 Congregational Studies Seminar I | Hicks, Takahashi, Tolley, Kirk

Enrollment in this seminar requires successful completion of the Community Studies Seminar. The components of the course are similar to those of the Community Studies Seminar, though the site work is done in a congregational setting and requires a commitment of up to 20 hours per week. In addition to the faculty, Teaching Pastors (experienced ministers leading the congregation) help direct the work of the student. The student receives 4 units of credit upon successful completion of this course.

M428 Leadership Studies Seminar I | Barker, Schulz, Takahashi, Welch

The Leadership Studies Year will provide the Intern with the opportunity to continue to learn about ministry through the prism of guided work within a congregation. We will explore the following themes: a public theology of hope and presence, embodied ecclesiology and the multiple roles of the minister (pastoral, prophetic, poetic, sustaining). The structure of learning and congregational engagement will be the same as that experienced during Congregational Studies. Students will have the opportunity to blend academic learning with structured reflection on the multiple dimensions of congregational life. They will meet monthly with a Congregational Lay Committee and weekly with their Teaching Pastor. In addition, Interns will lead a focused initiative in the congregation, one designed the prior year in close collaboration with the Teaching Pastor and Lay Committee.

M316INT(a) Ministry in a Post-Denominational Age | Barker

The decades-long decline of mainline denominations also has an impact on Unitarian Universalism. As such, this is an age that challenges our faith tradition and, at the same, time presents opportunities. UU ministers are on the front lines of these trends and will continue to be required to respond both personally and vocationally. In this half-credit course, the student will become acquainted with the latest demographic trends, engage in the discernment that will assist in vocational planning, and identify institutional (and ministerial) practices and techniques that will counter the trends. This is a course for all students whether they are leaning toward parish service, community ministry, or who have yet to establish a direction for their ministry.

M446INT(a) African Americans and the Unitarians, Universalists, and Unitarian Universalists | Morrison-Reed (course cancelled)

This course will familiarize you with both the African-American experience within the liberal religious community and that community's attitudes toward African Americans. Who were these African-American women and men? When and how did they become part of the liberal religious movement? What were the attitudes they met among Anglo-Americans and what was the institutional response to them? Using both primary and secondary resources we will approach these topics from two perspectives: the national and the local. The secondary aim of this course is to help you to acquire skills in doing historical research, and also to develop and practice ministry skills. The former will be put in practice in preparing for the week-long intensive via local research into the history, in regard to race, of your local congregation. The latter will be addressed through the presentation of this research in the form of a sermon, newsletter column and R.E. program. Important warning: This course is front end loaded. The majority of the assignments must be completed before you arrive in Chicago for the M/L Winter Intensive and the assignments submitted on or before their due dates.

M360/560INT Arts and Aesthetics | Tolley

Final Project: Design a "religious arts educational event" typical of one of the following: an adult education setting, a Sunday school class, or a recognition banquet or fellowship event. This can have as its focus the creation of a visual statement, dramatic production or liturgical dance element in worship. Projects will be class presentations on our final day.

M327INT Preaching As If You Mean It | Schulz

A great Harvard professor of homiletics once said that all ministers must face the hard question, "How far would you go to hear yourself preach?" If the answer is to be "A long way," then the sermons we preach will need to be both worthy in their content and felicitous in their style. This intensive course will address both elements of preaching. It will help students clarify what fundamental message they want to preach and how to do so most effectively.

TS442INT Liberal Theology| Hogue

Rather than providing an exhaustive historical survey, this course examines methods and models of select exemplary liberal theological thinkers and movements. Special attention is paid to the contested roles of experience and reason; theological anthropology; the relationship between liberal and liberation theologies; and contemporary challenges to and possibilities for contemporary liberal theology and liberal religious ministry.

H408INT UU History and Polity| Kirk

The purpose of this course is to provide a general introduction to the history of the Unitarians and Universalists in Europe, and later, North America. Comprehensive coverage of such a diverse landscape is not our goal. Rather, we will focus on individuals and events that highlight different ways Unitarians, Universalists, and Unitarians Universalists spoke of belief and practiced their religion in a variety of contexts. We will begin in the early Church with the emergence of Arianism, and wend our ways through the centuries to the present moment.

M456INT Unleashing Your Multicultural Ministry | Hicks, Takahashi

Interested in helping to bring multiculturalism to our congregations? Unclear how to begin? This class invites learners to step into the frame of multicultural imagination. By exploring through video and word, and especially by using one's own life as experience, learners will experience real models of how multicultural community works and will be challenged to adapt them to the frame of a congregation they know well or serve. The principles and approaches observed will be used to craft a plan to identify short and long-term steps towards enhancing multicultural community. Class time will be spent in personal exploration, discussions of the ways systems have to change to create a vibrant multicultural frame and identifying the resources already within your grasp to be a multicultural leader. A significant amount of time will be spent talking in teams about the steps you would take to create this sort of change in the congregation you serve. Teaching Pastors and Student/Intern Ministers are especially encouraged to enroll together for this experiential course.

M483INT Introduction to Pastoral Ministry | Taylor

We will explore some practices of pastoral care, in particular, and the vocation of pastoral ministry, in its broader sense, and we will touch upon the whole connected ensemble as we do so – beginning with reflection on our own selves; considering family systems and relationship skills; addressing communal concerns as we discuss both pastoral ministry across the lifespan and pastoral care in relationship with other facets of ministry; and finally returning to ourselves, considering the things that challenge us and the things that sustain us – including especially the Unitarian Universalist faith tradition which shapes us and calls us.

BS426INT Introduction to Hebrew Bible | Clayville

In this class, we will become acquainted with 1) the library of laws, narrative, and poetry that is known as the Hebrew Bible or Old Testament and 2) the variety of interpretive strategies that have been used to understand that library. M465INT Religious Education for a Changing World | Rogers, Hicks

We will explore our rich history of religious education and make note of how formative women and men shaped its philosophy; experience firsthand a variety of teaching strategies; explore theories of human, faith and identity development; and investigate through contextual research in a congregation how these theories and models play out. The course is designed with principles of anti-racism, anti-oppression and multicultural teaching and learning in mind, so as to model how this lens applies to religious education.

M468INT Collaborative Intergenerational Ministry | McEmrys

In this course participants will learn and develop principles and practices that foster congregational life that is both age-diverse and age-integrated through multigenerational collaborations that enrich the congregation's collective spiritual life, justice work and sense of self.

Spring Term 2016

M346 Community Studies Seminar II | Welch, Hogue

This course is attuned to the contextual nature of learning and ministry; aligned with the values of Unitarian Universalism and the mission of MLTS; alert to the strategic roles, tasks, and callings of liberal religious ministry; aware of the need for contemporary liberal religious ministers to partner with communities and resources outside of religious liberalism; and attentive to the complex cultural factors and dynamics that affect effective (mutually beneficial) community partnerships. The overarching purpose of the seminar is to provide occasion for the reflective integration of students' practical site experiences with theoretical learning. Student experiences in the field serve as this course's primary texts, and these will be critically examined in light of an array of multidisciplinary, multimedia secondary texts.

M348 Congregational Studies Seminar II | Hicks, Takahashi, Kirk, Tolley, Jackson

Enrollment in this seminar requires successful completion of the Community Studies Seminar. The components of the course are similar to those of the Community Studies Seminar, though the site work is done in a congregational setting and requires a commitment of up to 20 hours per week. In addition to the faculty, Teaching Pastors (experienced ministers leading the congregation) help direct the work of the student. The student receives 4 units of credit upon successful completion of this course.

M429 Leadership Studies II | Barker, Schulz, Takahashi, Welch

In addition, Interns will lead a focused initiative in the congregation, one designed the prior year in close collaboration with the Teaching Pastor and Lay Committee.

M483INT Introduction to Pastoral Ministry | Kacela

We will explore some practices of pastoral care, in particular, and the vocation of pastoral ministry, in its broader sense, and we will touch upon the whole connected ensemble as we do so – beginning with reflection on our own selves; considering family systems and relationship skills; addressing communal concerns as we discuss both pastoral ministry across the lifespan and pastoral care in relationship with other facets of ministry; and finally returning to ourselves, considering the things that challenge us and the things that sustain us – including especially the Unitarian Universalist faith tradition which shapes us and calls us.

BS425 New Testament and Christian Origins | Jorgensen

This course is an introduction to the collection of literature known by Christians as the New Testament, and to selected contemporary Jewish, Christian, and Greco-Roman writings that provide essential historical context for the production of the New Testament literature, for the diverse origins of the Christian movement, and for the collection of some of that literature into a New Testament canon. Although this literature has historically been an important source for the living tradition of Unitarians and Universalists, UUs today often bear an uncomfortable relationship to it. This course is designed to familiarize you with this literature and to give you the tools you need both to approach it critically and to draw upon it as a source for your ministry.

M327INT Preaching As If You Mean It | Schulz

A great Harvard professor of homiletics once said that all ministers must face the hard question, "How far would you go to hear yourself preach?" If the answer is to be "A long way," then the sermons we preach will need to be both worthy in their content and felicitous in their style. This intensive course will address both elements of preaching. It will help students clarify what fundamental message they want to preach and how to do so most effectively.

H334INT History of the Western Christian Traditions: Erasmus to 9/11

This course surveys the history of the western Christian traditions starting with Martin Luther's startling experience during a thunderstorm and ends with a reflection on our religious landscape today through three themes: reformation, adaptation, and location. We will explore these themes through primary readings from voices you may not have heard before, film, literature, and close historical studies. HWCT II will help student synthesize the history of the western Christian traditions by identifying key events, figures, groups, and ideas along with the forces and connections that shaped them. This course will invite students into thinking about the material world of Christianity and the importance of location in its development and adaptation

M326INT Compassionate Communication | Joyner

By engaging in Compassionate Communication during this course, practitioners "rewire their brains," grow their consciousness of compassion, and increase the depth and effectiveness of an embodied response to injustice and suffering in the world. Participants gain expertise so that they can themselves be trainers and facilitators of these practices. As the instructor is a Certified Trainer in Nonviolent Communication, hours here go towards meeting the requirements of certification if participants so desire.

He/she will learn and practice various techniques of institutional fundraising and major donor appeals.

T/E422INT Process and Liberation Theologies | Hogue, Welch

No advance familiarity with process thought or liberation theology is required.

Prior to his presidency, he held a variety of leadership roles in Unitarian Universalist theological education. He and his wife Kristina have one daughter, Ava.

"I believe Unitarian Universalism offers a route to true transformation both for individuals and the larger world, that our religious perspective has the possibility of bringing all life closer to wholeness. The degree to which we are successful in this venture is directly related to the quality of our ministry. And a ministry of excellence is shaped by a sound education. The mission of Meadville Lombard is sweeping, it is to knit together every part of the fragmented world."

William F. Schulz, DMin '75 DD '87 | Affiliated Faculty

B.A., Oberlin College, Phi Beta Kappa, MA, University of Chicago the University of Chicago, DMin, Meadville Lombard Theological School

From the refugee camps of Darfur, Sudan, to the poorest villages in India; from the prison cells of Monrovia, Liberia, to the business suites of Hong Kong to Louisiana's death row, Dr. William F. Schulz has traveled the globe in pursuit of a world free from human rights violations. As Executive Director of Amnesty International USA from 1994-2006, Dr. Schulz headed the American section of the world's oldest and largest international human rights organization. He is currently a Senior Fellow at the Center for American Progress in Washington, DC; a Fellow at the Carr Center for Human Rights Policy at Harvard's Kennedy School of Government; and an Adjunct Professor at the New School in New York City.

During his twelve years at Amnesty, Dr. Schulz led missions to Liberia, Tunisia, Northern Ireland, and Sudan and visited other places as diverse as Cuba and Mongolia. He was tailed by Tunisian secret police, threatened with assassination by Liberian warlord Charles Taylor and his appeal for reconciliation of Protestants and Catholics in Northern Ireland brought tears to the eyes of then Prime Minister David Trimble.

He also traveled tens of thousands miles in the United States, spreading the human rights message from campuses to boardrooms to civic organizations. A frequent guest on television programs such as Good Morning, America, The Today Show, Hardball and Nightline, Dr. Schulz is the author of two books on human rights, In Our Own Best Interest: How Defending Human Rights Benefits Us All (2001, Beacon Press) and Tainted Legacy: 9/11 and the Ruin of Human Rights (2003, Nation Books); the contributing editor of an upcoming book from the University of Pennsylvania Press entitled I Used To Be Innocent: Readings in the Study of Torture and is regularly quoted in The New York Times and other national publications. All of this prompted the New York Review of Books to say in 2002, "William Schulz...has done more than anyone in the American human rights movement to make human rights issues known in the United States."

An ordained Unitarian Universalist minister, Dr. Schulz came to Amnesty after serving for fifteen years with the Unitarian Universalist Association of Congregations (UUA), the last eight (1985-93) as President of the Association. As President, he led the first visit by a U. S. Member of Congress to post-revolutionary Romania in January, 1991, two weeks after the fall of Nicolae Ceausescu. That delegation was instrumental in the subsequent improvement in the rights of religious and ethnic minorities in Romania.

Dr. Schulz has served on the boards of People for the American Way, Planned Parenthood Federation of America and the International Association for Religious Freedom, the world's oldest international interfaith organization. He is currently Chair of the Board of the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee and is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations.

"My vision and passion for ministerial preparation focuses on the various learning styles of parishioners our students will serve in congregations and institutions around the world. To be prepared for effective ministry, clergy must be able to use visual, kinesthetic and auditory means of communication to speak in depth and scope to all the people they serve. The growing recognition and implementation of the arts in the curricula of Meadville Lombard is placing our students at the front of this cultural evolution."
