

About the Authors

Peter Bakken is Research Fellow at the Au Sable Institute of Environmental Studies. He is the author with Joan Gibb Engel and J. Ronald Engel of Ecology, Justice, and Christian Faith: A Critical Guide to the Literature.

David E. Bumbaugh is Associate Professor of Ministry and Director of Field Education at Meadville Lombard Theological School.

Joan Gibb Engel is an environmental writer and editor and trustee of the Shirley Heinze Environmental Fund in northwestern Indiana. "Who Are Democratic Ecological Citizens?" first appeared in "Nature, Polis, Ethics: Chicago Regional Planning: A Hastings Center Report Special Supplement," November/December 1998.

J. Ronald Engel is Research Professor in Environmental and Social Ethics at Meadville Lombard Theological School and co-director of the Chicago Program on Ecology, Justice, and Faith. He is author and editor of several books and numerous articles on ecology and democracy. "Earth Spirituality is a Many Splendored Thing!" was first given at Collegium: An Association for Liberal Religious Scholarship, October 1996.

Dwayne Eutsey is Adjunct Instructor at the University of Maryland University College, and is currently researching a book on Mark Twain's religious views. "The Influence of Liberal Religion on Mark Twain" is adapted from his master's thesis at Georgetown University, a version of which appeared in Religion and Literature (Notre Dame, Summer 1999).

Carol Hepokoski is Assistant Professor of Religious Ethics at Meadville Lombard Theological School. She received her Ph.D. from the Graduate Theological Union.

Dieter Hessel is the editor of Theology for Earth Community and After Nature's Revolt: Ecojustice and Theology, is coeditor with Rosemary Ruether of Christianity and Ecology: Seeking the Well-being of Earth and Humans and the author of Social Ministry and numerous articles. He is the director of the Program on Ecology, Justice, and Faith, and an ordained Presbyterian minister. Dr. Hessel's current research focuses on eco-justice, theology, and ethics.

Davidson Loehr is minister of the First Unitarian Church of Austin, Texas and a member of the Jesus Seminar. He received his Ph.D. in Theology, Philosophy of Religion, and Philosophy of Science from the University of Chicago.

William R. Murry is President and Academic Dean of Meadville Lombard Theological School and author of A Faith for All Seasons: Liberal Religion and the Crises of Life.

Susann Pangerl is a pastoral psychotherapist and a Fellow of the Center for Religion and Psychotherapy in Chicago.

Paul Rasor is Adjunct Instructor in Theology at Andover Newton Theological School, Visiting Lecturer at Harvard Divinity School, and Assistant Minister at First Parish in Lexington, Massachusetts. He received his Ph.D. in Theology from Harvard University.

Joshua A. Snyder is minister of the Second Unitarian Church of Omaha, Nebraska and a former student of Ron Engel. "The Ecological Democratic Faith of J. Ronald Engel" is adapted from his D.Min. dissertation at Meadville Lombard Theological School, "The Buddha's Love: The Kyoto School and the Democratic Faith."

Douglas Sturm is Emeritus Professor of Religion and Political Science at Bucknell University. He is the author of Community and Alienation, and most recently, Solidarity and Suffering: Toward a Politics of Relationality. "Identity and Alterity: Summons to a New Axial Age" was delivered at Theology and World Ethics: A Symposium on the Theology of the Earth Charter at the University of Chicago Divinity School, June 1999.