History

The Meadville Theological School was founded in Meadville, Pennsylvania in 1844. Its founder was a prosperous businessman, Harm Jan Huidekoper, who had discovered Unitarianism and wanted to help spread its message of liberality and hope in the "west." From its very beginning "no doctrinal test" was ever to be made a part of admission to the school. To become less isolated and to find a more enriching intellectual environment, Meadville moved in 1926 to become a part of the University of Chicago academic community.

Lombard College, originally the Illinois Liberal Institute, was founded in 1851 in Galesburg, Illinois, and its Universalist Divinity School in 1881 in Chicago. When the undergraduate college discontinued operations during the Great Depression, the Divinity School began a merger process with Meadville.

From 1929 to 2011, Meadville Lombard was located at South Woodlawn Avenue in the Hyde Park neighborhood of Chicago. Our school began a new chapter when we relocated to our current location on Michigan Avenue in downtown Chicago's South Loop.

Why Meadville Lombard?

Our Mission

At Meadville Lombard Theological School, we educate students in the Unitarian Universalist tradition to embody liberal religious ministry in Unitarian Universalist congregations and wherever else they are called to serve. We do this to take into the world our Unitarian Universalist vision of justice, equity, and compassion.

Our Responsibility

Meadville Lombard Theological School takes seriously our responsibility to ground our students in the knowledge, experience and tools they will need to promote change in a world in need of the hard work and determination of progressive religious leaders.

Our Students

Our students seek to enter the ministry through our Master of Divinity degree program or to deepen their understanding of liberal religion through our Master of Arts in Religion degree program. Our students are active in congregational life before and during their course of study at Meadville Lombard and are entrepreneurial with regard to their own educational needs for the work they will do during and after their course of study is complete. Our students come from around the country and around the globe and bring their understanding of local and global religious life to their work in the classroom and in their ministries.

Our Faculty

Key to our progressive education is having the faculty that will best challenge students academically while mentoring them in the theory and practice of liberal religion. Our faculty includes Unitarian Universalist ministers with years of practical experience as well as world-class scholars in liberal theology and contextual education.

Our Curriculum

The Meadville Lombard Contextual Learning Model was developed by our faculty over the last several years to provide students with the grounding they will need to embrace the multicultural present while preparing them to lead vibrant congregations and other organizations in a multicultural, multiracial world.

We created a curriculum that requires our students to interact in multicultural and interreligious settings to gain experience, context and ideas for creating congregational life that celebrates the joy and beauty of diverse expressions of thought and belief of Unitarian Universalism in the 21st century.

The Meadville Lombard Contextual Learning Model is a low-residency learning format that provides students with the connection of community and collegiality even while they spend most of their time in seminary at distant locations. Meadville Lombard students travel to Chicago for week-long intensive classes in January, March and July. These intensive classes require that reading and some assignments are completed prior to the face-to-face time in Chicago. In many classes, students also have follow-up work.

When not in Chicago, students stay connected to each other and to the faculty through our electronic classroom, by phone and by email. Our students are remarkable in the way they create community across the continent and globe through social networking sites and an electronic chat list.

Students in our Master of Divinity and Master of Arts in Leadership Studies degree programs are also enrolled in our Signature Courses—year-long, multi-unit courses dependent on site work in community and congregational settings. While enrolled in these courses, students are involved in weekly work that requires reflection and contact with other students in the class, with the faculty, and with their Teaching Pastors and Mentors.

Our Consortium

Meadville Lombard is part of the Association of Chicago Theological Schools (ACTS) which includes twelve other schools. Students living in the Chicago area can avail themselves of the course offerings of these schools by cross-registering through Meadville Lombard. Many of the ACTS schools offer online courses which are also available to Meadville Lombard students.

Affiliations

Association of Chicago Theological School (ACTS)

Meadville Lombard joined with other theological schools in Chicago to create the Association of Chicago Theological Schools and its offshoot, the Hyde Park Cluster of Theological Schools, in 1984. The cluster includes Catholic Theological Union, Chicago Theological Seminary (United Church of Christ), McCormick Theological Seminary (Presbyterian), and Lutheran School of Theology in Chicago. ACTS membership allows Meadville Lombard student access to more than 300 faculty members, 1,000 courses, and excellent libraries in the Chicagoland area and suburbs.

National and International Affiliations

Meadville Lombard is one of two Unitarian Universalist theological schools in North America with strong affiliations with the Unitarian Universalist Association, its Department of Ministry, and the UUA's Ministerial Fellowship Committee.

Meadville Lombard also has been an institutional member of the International Association for Religious Freedom (IARF) for many decades. Historically, many students, alumni/ae, and faculty have served on the IARF/US chapter board. A pre-World War II tradition is continued by a scholarship fund that enables theological students or ministers chosen by the Unitarian churches in Hungary and Romania to study at the school. Meadville Lombard now has a "partner school" relationship with the Protestant Theological Institute in Koloszar, Transylvania (Romania). In recent years, students belonging to the Brahma Samaj (India), Rissho Kosei-Kai (Japanese Buddhist), Konko-kyo (Japanese Shinto), and the Unitarian Universalist Church of the Philippines have come to study at the school.

Wiggins Memorial Library

The Wiggins Library has been a cornerstone of Meadville Lombard since its beginning in 1844. Comprising over 40,000 books and over 250 archival collections, the Wiggins Library is one of the foremost resources for the study of liberal religion. We amplify this historical legacy through technology that allows us to work collaboratively with the greater world and to share our unique collection and expertise.

Educational Goals

The Master of Divinity degree curriculum is designed to challenge and support students in an ongoing process of developing their individual and unique gifts for service in the liberal religious community. It provides a foundation of basic preparation for ministry centered in the following values:

Liberal religious heritage: The ability of students to read themselves deeply, passionately, and critically into the story of liberal religion, especially Unitarian Universalism, as part of the larger human story.

Excellence in ministerial practices: The ability to demonstrate a significant understanding of and progress in the basic arts and skills of ministry: leadership and administrative skills, worship leadership, religious education, preaching, pastoral care, and prophetic ministry in the larger community.

Intellectual capacities: The capacities that will open for students the fields of intellectual discourse, allowing them to make significant contributions to the cause of liberal religion. These capacities are characterized as “response-abilities:” the ability to affect creative, rigorous, wise, and compassionate responses to other people, other congregations and institutions, and the world.

Moral vision grounded in an engagement with a diverse world: A deeply moral engagement with the world, celebrating its rich diversity, and confronting its problems of oppression, injustice, poverty, and environmental degradation.

Personal readiness: Personal self-awareness, resilience, humor, good judgment, ethical and moral integrity, a well-tested seriousness of intent, and the ability to balance personal needs with the needs of ministry.

Spiritual depth: A spiritual depth united with disciplines that aim to preserve and increase that depth as they encounter the challenges and distractions of a ministerial life.

Interdependence: An understanding of and an engagement with the church as a covenant community, the nature and importance of the congregation as a learning institution engaged in the larger culture, and the practice of collaborative leadership.

Degree Programs

Meadville Lombard offers three degree programs:

The Master of Divinity (MDiv) degree program prepares students for professional ministry and adheres to the standards set forth by the Unitarian Universalist Association's Ministerial Fellowship Committee.

The Master of Arts in Leadership Studies (MALS) provides advanced work for lay leaders, ministers, and ministerial students in the theory and practice of leadership within congregations and community-based ministries.

The MALS degree is designed to develop liberal religious leadership for congregational and community life, grounded in a clear sense of the current challenges leadership face within our contemporary pluralistic, multi-faith, cross-cultural world.

The Master of Arts in Religion (MAR) degree program is a program for students determined to further their academic study of religion.

Admissions Requirements

All of our degree programs require a Bachelor's degree or equivalent. A limited number of students may be accepted without a Bachelor's degree upon review of the faculty for academic preparedness.

Students who are admitted without an undergraduate degree are done so provisionally and are required to complete an academically rigorous course, selected in consultation with assigned academic advisor, in the summer term prior to the term of matriculation.

Background Check

All applicants are subject to criminal background check.

Master of Divinity Degree

The Master of Divinity (MDiv) degree program consists of 90 units anchored by and organized around our three Signature Courses: Community Studies, Congregational Studies, and Leadership Studies. The Signature Courses are multi-unit, interdisciplinary courses that integrate practical field work and seminar learning. In addition to the Signature Courses, students meet their total unit requirements by taking 9 units of CPE and a combination of traditional courses and rotations (field work that supplements traditional courses).

All students (including part- and full-time) will be required to complete each signature course during one academic year. When enrolled in a Signature Course, students are required to attend the January Ingathering.

Full-time students can plan on completing the MDiv degree in three years. Part-time students may complete the MDiv program in as little as four years or as many as six.

As many as twenty-seven (27) credits may be transferred in from prior graduate work. Students must petition the faculty for transfer credit. Once students matriculate, they may take up to 9 credits outside of Meadville Lombard—at the University of Chicago or another accredited graduate institution. Online or residential classes taken at any of the Association of Chicago Theological Schools member schools are not considered transfer courses.

CORE CURRICULUM

At the center of the Meadville Lombard Contextual Learning Model are three experiential, multi-unit Signature Courses, designed to give students an opportunity to integrate their learning as they process the work that they are required to do in site placements in community and congregational settings.

Each week students meet in assigned small groups (usually by telephone) to address a question posed by the faculty and work together to create a reflection paper. The whole class also meets by conference call four times per semester and gathers together during the January Ingathering. As one of our students noted, the course is designed so that no piece of the learning can be done without the other—the site work informs the group reflections which then further inform how the students respond in their site work. Students throughout the country are able to maintain a learning cohort through the weekly small group meetings, as well as through the large group conference calls.

Students take the courses in the following sequence, building on their learning from year to year:

Community Studies Seminar

In their first year in both the Master of Divinity and the Master of Arts in Leadership Studies degree programs, with the guidance of our Director of Contextual Ministry, students find placements in community service organizations. They are required to provide 8 hours of weekly service to that organization and sites are selected with the purpose of enhancing the student's multicultural competencies. The student receives 9 units of credit upon successful completion of this course.

Congregational Studies Seminar

Enrollment in this seminar requires successful completion of the Community Studies Seminar. The components of the course are similar to those of the Community Studies Seminar, though the site work is done in a congregational setting and requires a commitment of 20 hours per week. In addition to the faculty, Teaching Pastors (experienced ministers leading the congregation) help direct the work of the student. The student receives 12 units of credit upon successful completion of this course.

Leadership Studies Seminar

Enrollment in this seminar requires successful completion of the Community Studies and Congregational Studies Seminars. The components of the course are similar to those of the Congregational Studies Seminar. The student receives 12 units of credit upon successful completion of this course.

During the course of their enrollment in the Congregational and Leadership Studies Seminars, students will undertake a project within the congregation that helps the congregation engage in border crossing activities.

Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE)

In addition to the signature courses, MDiv students are required to complete one basic unit of clinical pastoral education in a program certified by the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education. CPE programs are usually held in hospitals, but they also take place in mental health facilities, correctional institutions, nursing homes, and more. Full-time students should plan to complete CPE during the summer between their first and second years in the MDiv degree program. This requires the ability for the student to devote full-time work to the placement setting for approximately twelve weeks during the summer.

Part-time students may complete the requirement over the course of a year, but should plan to do so in a year when they are not also enrolled in a Signature Course.

Additional fees will be levied by the CPE site associated with this requirement. The Director of Contextual Ministry will assist the students in finding such placements.

Master of Arts in Leadership Studies

The Master of Arts in Leadership Studies (MALS) is designed for students who seek to effect change by addressing the social and spiritual needs of people and organizations outside the direct care of congregations. The course of study can be completed in 18 months and combines cohort learning, field work, traditional courses, and the design and implementation of a capstone project. The purpose of the degree is to prepare students to lead across the intercultural, multifaith, and multiracial contexts of diverse organizational settings. Through course selection tailored to their needs and aims, and in consultation with their Academic Advisors, students in the stand-alone MALS can choose to concentrate in either Lay Ministry or Social Change.

Learning Objectives for MALS Degree Programs:

- Develop leadership skills for a multifaith, multiracial and multicultural world.
- Develop competency in the history and theology of one's religious community.
- Demonstrate spiritual and ministerial discernment through course work, site supervision, and thesis.
- Utilize the insights of leadership and organizational theory in parish and/or community ministry.
- Demonstrate leadership specific to area of specialization (such as social engagement leadership, faith formation, worship, youth ministry).
- Participate in discourse with diverse constituencies, both within and beyond the Meadville Lombard community.

Concentration in Lay Ministry

The MALS with a Concentration in Lay Ministry prepares students to minister to the social and spiritual needs of diverse people and organizations. It prepares students to lead across the many changes that are shaping our diverse world and is especially appropriate for those who are called to initiatives in faith formation, justice work, music and/or the arts, and religious leadership in international and/or non-traditional settings.

Concentration in Social Engagement

The Master of Arts in Leadership Studies (MALS) with a Concentration in Social Engagement provides advanced work for community activists and faith-based community leaders and entrepreneurs who wish to deepen the ethical/spiritual framework they bring to their justice work.

MALS Project Requirement

Each student enrolled in the MALS program is required to submit a 6 credit Project. The Project requirement for the MALS includes the Project Lab course (3 credits) and the Project itself (3 credits). The Project requirement includes two phases:

1. Students will register for and participate in the 3-credit "Project Lab" course ["Research Methods" through spring 2018] during the semester prior to initiating their Projects. Complete details around the project, composition of the proposal, deadlines, and processes will be outlined in the Project Lab syllabus.
2. Students will register for the 3-credit "Project" course ("Thesis" course through spring 2018)

during the anticipated final semester of their degree program. During this time, students will research, implement, and summarize their project.

Students with approved projects will be assigned a Project Advisor at the completion of the Project Lab course. The Project Advisor will be someone on or affiliated with the MLTS faculty who has expertise in the student's Project area. Project Advising follows the same general principles, values, and expectations as specified in the Academic Advising section of the Student Handbook (2.5), it is distinct from general Academic Advising in that the Project Advisor's experience and knowledge align with the subject matter of the individual project and therefore should be consulted with questions specific to its implementation.

Financial Aid

Our goal is to provide a number of methods to help our matriculated students graduate with the lowest burden of debt possible. Through financial aid and scholarships available from individuals, churches, Meadville Lombard, and the Unitarian Universalist Association, we strive to lower the roadblocks that might prevent ministerial candidates from answering their call.

Institutional Financial Aid

Tuition Reduction Awards

Scholarships

Individuals and institutions continue to invest in the future of Unitarian Universalism by providing grants, fellowships, and scholarships to our students. Listed below are only a few of the grants, fellowships, and scholarships made available to matriculated students by donors such as these. For more information, contact the Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management.

Full Tuition Merit Scholarships

The following scholarships have been funded by donors to promote scholastic excellence. They are offered for the duration of the student's degree program and so applications are taken on a rotating basis.

The Arnold and Julia Bradburd Endowed Scholarship Fund for Excellence: The Bradburd scholarship is a merit-based scholarship designed to be awarded to one student for the duration of their studies at Meadville Lombard as long as they meet the academic standards set forth by the Meadville Lombard Administration. This full scholarship was awarded for the first time to a student in Fall 2008. It will be renewed each year as that student maintains her/his academic standing. The scholarship recipient is selected by the criteria established by the President.

Ethics and Theology

MLTE 420INT Feminist, Womanist, Mujerista and Queer Theologies

Feminist, Womanist, Mujerista and Queer theologians explore the spiritual resources that are grounding human empowerment in the past and the present. They name the practices and insights that enable people to challenge multiple forms of interlocked oppressions, and to create unfolding forms of human flourishing.

In this class, students will first ground their work in a particular political struggle. They will then read leading Feminist, Womanist, Mujerista and Queer theologians, and craft a constructive theological framing of the injustices being named and the forms of solidarity and transformation being enacted in one particular political struggle.

M411INT Healthy Boundaries, Healthy Ministry | Jackson

Healthy boundaries are key to healthy ministries. They are meant to create a safe container within which we can freely minister. This course will prepare you to develop and articulate your professional ethic of ministry. We will cover the importance of boundaries, pastoral authority and power dynamics, sexual health and ethics, harassment and abuse prevention, and self.

TS325INT History and Problems in Religious Humanism

Humanism as a philosophy of life stretches back at least to the Ancient Greeks. In post-19th century Unitarianism and Universalism, it manifested itself as “religious humanism” and, while only one of many theological positions within Unitarian Universalism, has had a profound impact on UU thought, practice and culture. This course, designed for those of all theological persuasions, humanist or not, will both acquaint students with the history of humanism, with particular emphasis on religious humanism and African American humanism, and help them grapple with fundamental questions related to God, truth and justice.

TS442INT Liberal Theology| Hogue (Required)

Rather than providing an exhaustive historical survey, this course examines methods and models of select exemplary liberal theological thinkers and movements. Special attention is paid to the contested roles of experience and reason; theological anthropology; the relationship between liberal and liberation theologies; and contemporary challenges to and possibilities for contemporary liberal theology and liberal religious ministry.

General Courses

- E337INT Cosmos and Ethos: Climate Justice and Theology | Hogue
This course explores the climate crisis and climate justice in theological, ethical, and political terms. We will engage the climate crisis as a geophysical and planetary reality, a “wicked” moral phenomenon, a religious concern, a social justice tragedy, and a problem of political economy.
- M301INT Tools for Parish and Nonprofit Administration | Barker & Schulz
This course will examine the role of the minister as fundraiser within a parish ministry context. The student will learn ways to identify the spiritual and theological dimension of fundraising and become acquainted with its role in transformational leadership.
- M316INT Religious Leadership in the Post-denominational Age | Barker
The decades-long decline of mainline denominations also has an impact on Unitarian Universalism. As such, this is an age that challenges our faith tradition and, at the same, time presents opportunities. UU ministers are on the front lines of these trends and will continue to be required to respond both personally and vocationally. In this half-credit course, the student will become acquainted with the latest demographic trends, engage in the discernment that will assist in vocational planning, and identify institutional (and ministerial) practices and techniques that will counter the trends. This is a course for all students whether they are leaning toward parish service, community ministry, or who have yet to establish a direction for their ministry. This course is taught over two terms
- M400INT Project Lab | Walsh
Project Lab is a 3-credit course in research and project development designed to assist MALS students in developing their Project proposals. This course is required for all MALS students. Students will acquire the skills required to recognize research problems, review literature, evaluate sources, interpret results, and draw conclusions about the research findings.
- M492 MALS Project | Project Advisor
Prerequisite: Project Lab, final semester of degree program.
Research and implementation of the Project approved in XXXX Project Lab Course. The student should keep a research and project journal to record observations, insights, and learnings to be used as a resource for their summary paper. Students are required to initiate and meet via phone or Zoom with their Project Advisor to discuss progress of their project. Students’ final deliverable will be their Project summaries (10-15 pages).

Historical Context of Ministry

- H374INT History of Global Christianity | Kirk (Required)
This course surveys the development and adaptation of Christianity starting with the shocking death of a Jewish religious leader and what his followers did afterwards. We consider the next generation of followers and teachers who took the Jesus' message and adapted it for their time and place. We see how politics and location shaped Christianity in the east and west. We will explore the themes of adaptation, diversity, and power through primary readings from voices you may not have heard before.
- H394INT UU History and Polity | Kirk (Required)
The purpose of this course is to provide a general introduction to the history of the Unitarians and Universalists in Europe, and later, North America. Comprehensive coverage of such a diverse landscape is not our goal. Rather, we will focus on individuals and events that highlight different ways Unitarians, Universalists, and Unitarians Universalists spoke of belief and practiced their religion in a variety of contexts. We will begin in the early Church with the emergence of Arianism, and wend our ways through the centuries to the present moment.

Ministry

- M387INT Crossing Boundaries: Multi-faith Leadership in the New America | Barker, Doebke
By participating in communities of practice, attending lectures and cultural performances that draw on the viewpoints of various faith traditions, being in dialogue with religious leaders who are working in the realm of multi-religious leadership, and conducting discussions with other seminarians, the student will build a foundation of knowledge, skills and dispositions that are necessary for emerging leadership in the American multireligious context.
- M360INT Designing Multi-Cultural Worship in a Changing World | Straube, Tolley (Required)
This course will provide a framework for creating worship in a culture that is becoming more diverse and where organized religion is losing adherence. Students will gain an understanding of the history and theology of Unitarian and Universalist liturgies. They will then consider how to create worship that is memorable, meaningful and multi-cultural. This is a hands-on course, where students will be asked to create a worship service based on these learnings and present a video of it to their peers.
- M483INT Introduction to Pastoral Ministry (Required)
We will explore some practices of pastoral care, in particular, and the vocation of pastoral ministry, considering the things that challenge us and the things that sustain us-including especially the Unitarian Universalist faith tradition which shapes us.

M327INT Preaching as if You Mean It | Schulz (Required)

A great Harvard professor of homiletics once said that all ministers must face the hard question, “How far would you go to hear yourself preach?” If the answer is to be “A long way,” then the sermons we preach will need to be both worthy in their content and felicitous in their style. This intensive course will address both elements of preaching. It will help students clarify what fundamental message they want to preach and how to do so most effectively.

M403INT Spiritual Practice for Minister and Congregations

In this class students will familiar with a theology of spiritual formation based on Unitarian Universalist theological traditions. Students will analyze their own spiritual practice based on the Integral Spiritual Practice model. They will become familiar with a variety of spiritual practices appropriate to Unitarian Universalists. Based on their analysis of a congregational setting, they will design a compressive program to provide opportunities for congregants to understand and learn spiritual practices.

M336INT Tools for Overcoming Your First Congregational Hurdles | Barker

In an age when ministers are expected to "do it all", congregational leaders increasingly demand management leadership from ordained clergy-skills that, when they are underdeveloped, often lead to the minister's first crisis of authority and effectiveness. In this course, the student will learn ways to approach the administrative functions of ministry, concentrating on the practical skills of volunteer recruitment and supervision, personnel hiring and supervision, financial administration and budget preparation, meeting building and property needs, conflict management and working with lay leaders

M456INT/a Unleashing Your Multicultural Ministry| Hicks, Takahashi

Interested in helping to bring multiculturalism to our congregations? Unclear how to begin? This class invites learners to step into the frame of multicultural imagination. By exploring through video and word, and especially by using one’s own life as experience, learners will experience real models of how multicultural community works and will be challenged to adapt them to the frame of a congregation they know well or serve. The principles and approaches observed will be used to craft a plan to identify short and long-term steps towards enhancing multicultural community. Class time will be spent in personal exploration, discussions of the ways systems have to change to create a vibrant multicultural frame and identifying the resources already within your grasp to be a multicultural leader. A significant amount of time will be spent talking in teams about the steps you would take to create this sort of change in the congregation you serve. Teaching Pastors and Student/Intern Ministers are especially encouraged to enroll together for this experiential course.

Religious Education

M494INT Method is the Message | Hicks

Students should expect to grapple head-on with models of cognitive, faith and identity development in a multi-racial, multicultural world. The course is appropriate for directors of religious education, ministers, religious educators and classroom teachers, professors, social workers, graduate students developing curriculum—any person interested in creating a learning community that deepens self-knowledge and a capacity for social change.

M465INT Religious Education for a Changing World | Rogers (Required)

This course is designed to be a comprehensive introduction to ideas and practices that give Unitarian Universalist Religious Education its meaning and purpose for young and old alike. We will explore our rich history of religious education and make note of how formative women and men shaped its philosophy; experience firsthand a variety of teaching strategies; explore theories of human, faith and identity development; and investigate through contextual research in a congregation how these theories and models play out. The course is designed with principles of anti-racism, anti-oppression and multicultural teaching and learning in mind, so as to model how this lens applies to religious education.

M466INT Walking the Talk: Developing Competency in Cross-Cultural Communications

This weekend, skills-based course provides an opportunity for seminarians and social justice workers to identify and improve their ability to communicate across various cultural orientations. “Communicating across cultures,” in this context, is the act of understanding the assumptions, values and preferences of another human being, and with that knowledge, construct acts of communication that builds bridges of understanding and integrity. In this course, every act of communication—even within similar cultural groups—is a cross-cultural encounter. The course will be highly experiential, emotionally intensive, giving learners multiple opportunities for real-time engagement with difficult expressions of cultural conflict. (See Also Religious Education)

Sacred Texts

In this class, we will become acquainted with 1) the corpus of laws, narrative, poetry, letters, and gospels that comprise the Hebrew Scriptures and the Christian

Faculty

Meadville Lombard has the only predominantly Unitarian Universalist faculty of any seminary in the nation. Our faculty is comprised of men and women who possess extraordinary academic achievement—such as Michael Hogue, a Templeton Award for Theological Promise scholar, and Sharon Welch, a Unitarian Universalist who is renowned for her achievements in the field of Liberal Religion. Additionally, we have faculty with years of ministerial service to congregations.

Lee Barker | President and Professor of Ministry

A life-long Unitarian Universalist, Lee comes to Meadville Lombard after twenty-five years in the parish ministry. He has held pulpits in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Most recently, he served as senior minister of Neighborhood Unitarian Universalist Church in Pasadena, California. Each of his ministries has contributed to a surge in institutional growth, a renewed commitment to social justice and the adoption of a far ranging religious and spiritual vision. Prior to his presidency, he held a variety of leadership roles in Unitarian Universalist theological education. He and his wife Kristina have one daughter, Ava.

“I believe Unitarian Universalism offers a route to true transformation both for individuals and the larger world, that our religious perspective has the possibility of bringing all life closer to wholeness. The degree to which we are successful in this venture is directly related to the quality of our ministry. And a ministry of excellence is shaped by a sound education. The mission of Meadville Lombard is sweeping, it is to knit together every part of the fragmented world.”

William F. Schulz, DMin '75 DD '87 | Affiliated Faculty

B.A., Oberlin College, Phi Beta Kappa; M.A., University of Chicago; D.Min., Meadville Lombard Theological School

From the refugee camps of Darfur, Sudan, to the poorest villages in India; from the prison cells of Monrovia, Liberia, to the business suites of Hong Kong to Louisiana's death row, Dr. William F. Schulz has traveled the globe in pursuit of a world free from human rights violations. As Executive Director of Amnesty International USA from 1994-2006, Dr. Schulz headed the American section of the world's oldest and largest international human rights organization. He is currently a Senior Fellow at the Center for American Progress in Washington, DC; a Fellow at the Carr Center for Human Rights Policy at Harvard's Kennedy School of Government; and an Adjunct Professor at the New School in New York City.

During his twelve years at Amnesty, Dr. Schulz led missions to Liberia, Tunisia, Northern Ireland, and Sudan and visited other places as diverse as Cuba and Mongolia. He was tailed by Tunisian secret police, threatened with assassination by Liberian warlord Charles Taylor and his appeal for reconciliation of Protestants and Catholics in Northern Ireland brought tears to the eyes of then Prime Minister David Trimble.

He also traveled tens of thousands of miles in the United States, spreading the human rights message from campuses to boardrooms to civic organizations. A frequent guest on television programs such as Good Morning, America, The Today Show, Hardball and Nightline, Dr. Schulz is the author of two books on human rights, In Our Own Best Interest: How Defending Human Rights Benefits Us All (2001, Beacon Press) and Tainted Legacy: 9/11 and the Ruin of Human Rights (2003, Nation Books); the contributing editor of an upcoming book from the University of Pennsylvania Press entitled I Used To Be Innocent: Readings in the Study of Torture and is regularly quoted in The New York Times and other national publications. All of this prompted the New York Review of Books to say in 2002, "William Schulz has done more than anyone in the American human rights movement to make human rights issues known in the United States."

An ordained Unitarian Universalist minister, Dr. Schulz came to Amnesty after serving for fifteen years with the Unitarian Universalist Association of Congregations (UUA), the last eight (1985-93) as President of the Association. As President, he led the first visit by a U. S. Member of Congress to post-revolutionary Romania in January 1991, two weeks after the fall of Nicolae Ceausescu. That delegation was instrumental in the subsequent improvement in the rights of religious and ethnic minorities in Romania.

Dr. Schulz has served on the boards of People for the American Way, Planned Parenthood Federation of America and the International Association for Religious Freedom, the world's oldest international interfaith organization. He is currently Chair of the Board of the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee and is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations.

Dr. Schulz has received a wide variety of honors, including seven honorary degrees (University of Cincinnati, Grinnell College, Lewis & Clark College, Meadville Lombard Theological School, Nova Southeastern University, Oberlin College, Willamette University), the Public Service Citation from the University of Chicago Alumni Association and the Distinguished Achievement Award from the Oberlin College Alumni Association. He has been included in Vanity Fair's 2002 Hall of Fame of World Nongovernmental Organization Leaders and was named "Humanist of the Year" by the American Humanist Association in 2002. He is married to the Rev. Beth Graham, also a Unitarian Universalist minister. Dr. Schulz has two grown children from a previous marriage.

William Sinkford | Affiliated Faculty

B.A., Harvard University; M.Div., Starr King School for the Ministry

The Rev. Dr. William G. Sinkford, Senior Minister, was called to First Unitarian in 2010. He is the principal spiritual leader of the church as well as having overall management responsibility for its operation.

Bill, as he prefers to be called, is well known for his service as President of the Unitarian Universalist Association (2001-2009). His tenure was marked by strong public witness for social justice and support for marginalized communities, commitments he continues here in Portland.

Bill's commitment to liberal religion dates to his teenage years, when he was an active member of the First Unitarian Church of Cincinnati, Ohio. He served as the president of Liberal Religious Youth, the continental Unitarian Universalist (UU) youth organization. He had a successful career in the corporate world and ran his own business in the housing field. In later years he returned to Cincinnati and served his home church as a lay leader until he answered the call to ministry in 1992.

After completing his Master of Divinity degree at Starr King School for the Ministry in 1995, Bill joined the UUA staff where he served until he was elected to the Presidency. Bill earned his B.A. from Harvard in 1968 and also holds honorary doctorates from Tufts University and Meadville/Lombard Theological School.

During his years of service to the denomination ("a seventeen-year detour," as he describes it), Bill never lost his goal of being a pastor to a congregation. "My service at First Church fulfills my calling to ministry. I am finally able to preach to congregants whose stories I know, whose children I've dedicated and whose elders I have memorialized."

Bill was the first African American to lead any traditionally white denomination, and was named one of the ten most influential Black religious leaders in the US in both 2005 and 2006. He and his wife Maria have four adult children, and one grandchild, William Rider Sinkford, born in July 2008.

Julie Taylor | Affiliate Faculty, Senior Director of Contextual Ministry

Rev. Taylor is a Unitarian Universalist community minister specializing in critical incident response, community crisis and pastoral care. Julie is an adjunct professor at Meadville Lombard, Starr King School for the Ministry and Eden Theological Seminary. In addition Julie serves on the board of the UU Trauma Response Ministry and is a chaplain (Capt.) with the New York Air National Guard. An ordained minister for over 16 years, Julie has served UU congregations in New York City and St. Louis, volunteered with multiple crisis and disaster response organizations. A sought-after speaker and teacher, Julie has contributed chapters to several books on the subject of spiritual care and crisis. Agitating, preaching and working towards dismantling systems of White supremacy are key in Julie's theology and work. Currently Julie lives in St. Louis with wife, Laurel and their two children.

Julie shares these thoughts with us: Unitarian Universalism is in a time of discernment. The world is changing and we, as a faith and as faith leaders have the opportunity to do the work to dismantle systems of oppression that keep us from living fully into our covenants and Principles. I am grateful and excited to be part of Meadville Lombard's commitment to developing ministers and ministries that "take into the world our Unitarian Universalist vision of justice, equity and compassion."

Leslie Takahashi | Affiliated Faculty

B.A., University of North Carolina; M.A., Duke University; M.Div., Meadville Lombard Theological School

Leslie currently serves as senior minister at the Mt. Diablo Unitarian Universalist Congregation in Walnut Creek, California. She is a co-author of The Arc of the Universe is Long (Skinner House 2009), which chronicles the recent history of the UUA's journey toward becoming an anti-racist, anti-oppressive, multicultural movement. The Arc of the Universe is Long covers the fourteen years that begin with the passage of the racial and cultural diversity resolution at Calgary, in Canada, in 1992 and traces developments through General Assembly 2006. She is also currently editing a book on Universalist theological heritage.

John Tolley | Affiliated Faculty

B.A., University of Indianapolis; M.Min., Christian Theological Seminary; Ph.D., New York University

John teaches arts of ministry in religious art and aesthetics. Before coming to Meadville Lombard, he served congregations for twenty-two years in Indiana, Tennessee, New Jersey, and Connecticut. He holds a Ph.D. in Educational Theatre from New York University and has taught in that discipline at NYU, City University of New York, and Goshen College in Indiana. His portfolio includes over seventy dramatic productions and publications on the topics of religious education, religious art and gay/lesbian issues. John's partner of twenty years resides with him in Chicago.

"My vision and passion for ministerial preparation focuses on the various learning styles of parishioners our students will serve in congregations and institutions around the world. To be prepared for effective ministry, clergy must be able to use visual, kinesthetic and auditory means of communication to speak in depth and scope to all the people they serve. The growing recognition and implementation of the arts in the curricula of Meadville Lombard is placing our students at the front of this cultural evolution."
